BPSD boasts top API score among peers

The Academic Performance Index (API) is a testing series mandated by the Oklahoma State Department of Education for every school district in the state. The API primarily measures the percentage of students performing at proficient levels in reading and mathematics.

The BPSD's Vision 2012 plan included a goal of having the highest API score among the 32 largest districts in Oklahoma. Bartlesville has steadily increased its performance and was second in 2011, trailing only Edmond.

A comparison among peer districts is displayed here.

The awards are earned when programs earn cumulative GPAs of 3.25 or better.

State mandated tests also measure the percentage of students performing at advanced levels. First place finishes for each peer district are shown below.
